Our guest speaker is passionate about people and organizations fulfilling their potential.

Don <Blo HO wee ak> was a successful corporate executive in New York City, Southern California, and lots of places in between.

Today, Don helps many top organizations around the world to develop their leaders. His clients include Johnson & Johnson, FedEx, Honda, and many others.

He's the author of several management books, a couple of hundred articles, and he's a featured leadership blogger on BNET.com.

Don has published about a million words on management. But he promises that he won't say all of them in his presentation!

Please help me welcome... Don <Blo HO wee ak>
